

Daniella

Rolemodel

Leads

Have you ever dropped what you are doing and ran like crazy to see a popular singer, movie star or sports persnality on tv? Do you sit and daydream about being just like that famous singer, practice what they do, dress like they dress because you want to be just like them? Well if you have, chances are that person is your rolemodel.

Jennifer, a fourth grader, can't see enough of Britany Spears. The sound of "Oops I did it again..." is enough to make her drop everything and run to see her.

is listening to her new CD
Just the sound of Britany Spears singing "Oops I did it again..." is enough to cause Jennifer, a fourth grader to drop what she is doing and run to see Britany performing on television. She deeply admires Britany. Jennifer every moment she can So she could watch her all day on television, she and listens to her on radio all day long, she dresses up like her and she sings like her.
Jennifer really wants to be just like her. Britany Spears is a role model for Jennifer.

Daniella trying out leads for her second draft.