Forward

Welcome

ForwardED: Forward, Together in Education—a series by educators for educators. This series features authors and teacher practitioners in conversation about some of the biggest challenges facing the education community as we return to the classroom this fall.

We'll look at topics in literacy, leadership, and equity, and examine:

- the boundaries of new legislation across the country
- the intersection of research and classroom experience
- ways to help kids navigate many different experiences of the Covid-19 pandemic
- how to teach and lead through this back-to-school season in a way that centers the best interests of children.

This free, online “slow conference” features forty-minute to hour-long evening sessions with thought leaders and educators as we seek to ask challenging questions, offer concrete guidance, and move our collective practice forward, together.

Join us in conversation and collaboration:

When: Every Thursday at 7:30 through October

Where: Broadcast via Facebook Live on the Heinemann Facebook page (recordings will be posted to the Heinemann website and YouTube channel post air date)
