Possible Goals

I think ___________________________ needs to _____________________________________________

because I saw _____________________________ when looking at the

___________________________________________, and ______________________________________

when looking at the _____________________________.

I think ___________________________ needs to _____________________________________________

because I saw _____________________________ when looking at the

___________________________________________, and ______________________________________

when looking at the _____________________________.

I think ___________________________ needs to _____________________________________________

because I saw _____________________________ when looking at the

___________________________________________, and ______________________________________

when looking at the _____________________________.

I think ___________________________ needs to _____________________________________________

because I saw _____________________________ when looking at the

___________________________________________, and ______________________________________

when looking at the _____________________________.

May be photocopied for classroom use. © 2013 by Jennifer Serravallo from The Literacy Teacher’s Playbook, Grades 3–6, Portsmouth, NH: Heinemann.