How does this child seem to respond when I...

...consider different ways that the information I present can be represented?

- Use different media, symbols, or languages.
- Present information nonverbally.
- Give background information to guide thinking.

...create different opportunities for action and expression in the classroom?

- Have tools available for them to express themselves beyond writing and speaking.
- Encourage movement and performance.
- Provide supports so that students can come up with their own planning and organizational systems.

...foster multiple ways to sustain engagement?

- Offer choice and options that feel valuable and relevant to children.
- Create opportunities for authentic feedback and collaboration.
- Make time and space for kids to work through frustration, confusion, or mistakes.
