"When books serve as windows, readers have the opportunity to consider new ideas and new ways of thinking and to see themselves as part of a larger community."

— Lester L. Laminack and Katie Kelly